Charny Karpousis Altieri & Donoian, P.A. Partner Karen Rose Karpousis Volunteers as Judge at William Allen Middle School Year-End 8th Grade Exit Assessment For Third Straight Year

June 4, 2018 – Marlton, NJ – For the third straight year, Charny Karpousis Altieri & Donoian, P.A. partner Karen Rose Karpousis will volunteer as a judge at this year's William Allen Middle School (WAMS) 8th Grade Exit Assessment on Friday June 14th in Moorestown, New Jersey. She will once again join a group of professionals and peers in evaluating student presentations, providing feedback to the students on their communication skills and to the school on its goal of preparing its students to be global community citizens.

According to the school committee, each year 8th grade students at William Allen Middle School are divided into groups and tasked with creating a unique Non-Governmental Organization (NGO) with a mission statement, target country or region and awareness campaign to gain funding from potential investors. It must also meet one of the specific UN Sustainable Development Goals. The judges' evaluations are used to adjust the WAMS curriculum and encourage students to be innovative and practical problem solvers, effective communicators, proficient researchers, self-directed learners and collaborative team members.

"Each year I am inspired more and more with the talent students show in their presentations," says Karpousis, a now regular judge at the annual exit assessment. "The WAMS philosophy is unique and this program supports to school's overriding The mission of the William Allen Middle School is to educate early adolescents and to internalize responsibility, value themselves and others, and become life-long learners and productive citizens."
